Summary:

The Divine Comedy is an epic poem written by Dante Alighieri between 1308 and 1321. It is widely considered to be one of the greatest works of world literature.

The poem is divided into three parts: Inferno, Purgatorio, and Paradiso. The poem follows Dante as he travels through the three realms of the afterlife: Hell, Purgatory, and Heaven.

In Inferno, Dante travels through the nine circles of Hell, guided by the Roman poet Virgil. He encounters various sinners and witnesses their punishments. He also meets several historical figures, including Pope Celestine V and his predecessor Boniface VIII. At the end of Inferno, Dante and Virgil reach the center of Hell, where Satan is found.

In Purgatorio, Dante ascends Mount Purgatory, guided by the Roman poet Statius. He meets various souls who are being purified of their sins. He also meets several historical figures, including Pope Adrian V and his predecessor Celestine V. At the end of Purgatorio, Dante and Statius reach the Earthly Paradise, where Dante is reunited with his beloved Beatrice.

In Paradiso, Dante is guided by Beatrice as he ascends through the nine spheres of Heaven. He meets various souls who have achieved salvation and witnesses the glory of God. He also meets several historical figures, including Pope Boniface VIII and his predecessor Celestine V. At the end of Paradiso, Dante and Beatrice reach the Empyrean, where they witness the ultimate glory of God.
